What To Do With Books?

- Rabbi Jeff Clopper

I sat in my office the other day, scanning the many volumes on my shelves. Most of these books have come into my possession since beginning rabbinical school some 33 years ago. A few of them date back even further. Books have been an integral part of life. As the son of a librarian, I was taught to value each one. In my house, while most often they were on loan from the library, there always was a sense of reverence and respect.

Now in this digital age where reading material is readily downloaded to various devices, although some still find comfort in printed copies, it seems like future generations will have no need for multiple shelves. I sometimes wonder what will happen to my books. Rabbinic colleagues who retire often try to find new homes for their books covering topics such as prayer, spirituality, history, and many more. In most cases, they end up in recycling bins or regular garbage bins.

Except for the holy books. There is a place for them always because, in Jewish tradition, holy books always maintain their holiness. As such, they have to be handled with care and respect. According to Jewish law, books considered holy, especially those with God's name written within, must be placed in an area where they cannot be destroyed (referred to as a genizah, a Hebrew word meaning reserved or hidden). Since it happened so often that materials were burned, accidentally or otherwise intentionally (think pogroms), it was determined that burying them was the best option. That way, just as loved ones would be laid to rest in the ground at the end of their lives, the same would happen for these important books.

I know the question "What to do with books?" is not just in my thoughts. Over the years, many in this congregation have asked a similar question. Already, we have one closet at TBE that continues to be filled with the discarded and deteriorated Jewish books people have dropped off through the years. And I know there are so many more out there.

So, I invite all of you who have older books that might have reached the end of their lives to be a part of a Sacred Book Project. Comb through your shelves and find the books that might need to be laid to rest. Together as a community, we will have a chance to show the proper respect and love, ultimately helping them lay to rest in a local Jewish cemetery. Along the way, there will be chances to learn a bit more about the practice and the laws involved. Plus, those who wish to can be part of the process to help bury them. It will truly be holy work. Keep an eye out for this important project and know that there will be a place for those books to be, if not on our shelves at home.

Mark Your Calendar for TBE's Biggest Event of the Year!

We are excited to announce that this year's Temple Community Celebration, Temple Beth El's most important (and festive!) fundraising event of the year, will take place the evening of Saturday, June 3, 2023. This year's theme is "Grateful to Gather", an appropriate mantra for an evening where the temple community will gather together to enjoy food, drink, music, and celebration.

An important part of the Temple Community Celebration involves recognizing community members who have given of themselves year after year in service to our temple. This year we are honoring Linda & Art Mont; The Eigs: Elaine & Barry and Daniel & Lynne; and Phoebe Krane & Sandy Hoffman. Each of these couples has devoted countless hours of their time and energy to Temple Beth El throughout the years and has been vital to making Temple Beth El the special place that it has been, and continues to be.

This year's event will begin at 6:00 p.m. with intimate gatherings at temple partner homes where guests will enjoy light fare and drinks in a relaxed setting that will allow them to reconnect with familiar faces and meet new friends. Each guest will be assigned to a temple partner's home. Everyone will then all come together as a congregation back at the temple to enjoy some lively music, a multitude of delicious desserts, some wine and coffee, and a special ceremony celebrating our honorees. Guests can come to only the temple portion of the evening if they so choose. The honoree ceremony will also be livestreamed at no charge for those who are not able to join in person.

Tickets will be $50 per person, with the opportunity to make additional donations to the temple. Certain sponsor levels will receive two free tickets. All donors will be able to offer a tribute message to our honorees and their names will be included on the digital and framed Scroll of Honor.

Formal invitations have been mailed to each partner household in mid-April, and partners can also R.S.V.P. and donate at any time by visiting the special Temple Community Celebration website at www.wizevents.com/tbeli2023, where you will also find much more information about this year's exciting event, including background on each of our honorees and what makes them so special to our Temple Beth El community. You can also R.S.V.P. and donate by completing the donation form [on the next page] and returning it to the temple.

Once again, we are also providing a Business Directory that will be available to all on the Temple Community Celebration website. If you have a business, communicating your products and/or services to our entire Temple congregation is a great way to get the word out! Additionally, consider talking with the local businesses you patronize and encourage them to also support the temple. A Business Directory listing is just $100 and includes a display on the electronic and printed Scroll of Honor, plus each business will be listed on the Business Listing page with a link back to its own website. Contact Lisa in the temple office for the Business Listing ad form.

We encourage all temple partners to purchase tickets and to donate as this is the biggest temple fundraiser of the year and represents an integral portion of the temple's yearly revenue. Questions? Email Patti Kresner and Harlee Richmond, our Temple Community Celebration Co-Chairs, at celebrations@tbeli.org. We can't wait to celebrate with everyone on June 3rd!

Women's Cooking Initiative - Yeruham-Eshel
Negev Desert/Moshav Netiv Ha'asarah

Since my daughter moved out, I have searched for an appropriate gift to help her start her new Jewish home. She already has Shabbat candlesticks and I thought that a Miriam's Cup would be a wonderful way to celebrate her role as a young and vibrant Jewish woman. And so, I started the usual online search that has dominated our shopping sprees since COVID. But I could not find one that I really liked; they were either too ornate or overly artsy, too fancy or too plain to represent the song of Miriam. I went to a few Judaica stores only to be surprised that there were none for sale - or the store manager tried to sell me an Elijah's cup, advising me to just tell everyone it was a Miriam's Cup. Then I went to Friday night services; my favorite service on the third Friday when we read and discuss a Torah portion. How ironic that we were chatting about the Israelite's search for jewels to adorn their portable temple in the desert! As I made my way to the oneg with several Sisterhood friends, I walked past our Judaica cabinets and immediately spotted a beautiful Miriam's Cup! It was simple yet elegant and clearly celebrated Miriam. Before bringing it to my table, it would serve as the Miriam's Cup in the Women's Sisterhood Seder with Cantor Alison and 40+ Sisterhood members gathered to tell the Pesach story through the eyes of our female ancestors.

Somehow this story reminded me of my story of Sisterhood at the temple. We are always searching for perfect answers; a larger synagogue, lower membership fees, less politics...yet the search always leads us back to Temple Beth El, the place that has become a home for us and one that holds a Sisterhood family for me.

So whether you are a bookworm, a Mah Jongg aficionado, a volunteer seeking to help by preparing meals or knitting blankets, or just someone looking for the company of some really terrific women, please consider joining us next year. You may have enjoyed our Purim Hamantashen, a yummy Juliet dinner at a local restaurant, prayed with us at the Women's Seder, or found the perfect knick-knack at a rummage sale. Or perhaps you want to help during our Blood Drives or when we prepare for special Shabbat services. No matter what aspect of Sisterhood speaks to you, we look forward to meeting you and sharing our special bond of sisterhood. Your Miriam's Cup is waiting to be filled...
