Volume 6 - 2022/2023

Welcome Lauren Chizner, our new Religious School Director!

Lauren Chizner has been a Jewish educator for 25 years, serving congregations and organizations across Long Island. She earned her Joint master's degree in Jewish Education and Jewish Communal Service from Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in Los Angeles. Lauren has served as the religious school director at Port Jewish Center in Port Washington for the past 10 years, sharing her love and passion for Judaism. She also spent six years as the director of education at Temple Beth El of Great Neck and then worked as an educational consultant for SAJES (now known as The Jewish Education Project), working with congregations across the island.

In addition to working in synagogues, Lauren has spent 16 summers as the director of Jewish life at URJ Crane Lake Camp, bringing Judaism to life for campers and staff. Lauren also has the privilege of serving as the administrator for Project Understanding, a non-profit, grassroots organization on Long Island, founded by Roger Tilles and the late Fr. Tom Hartman. Project Understanding has provided a vehicle for Catholic and Jewish high school students to gain a greater knowledge of their own and each other's religion through experiences on Long Island and in Israel.

As our temple leadership changes every two years, so must there be changes in the staff at The Buzz. In 2017, after one brief question and a few comments later, I found myself being the new editor of The Buzz. From Bonnie Braun (z"l), I learned to edit. From Howard Schneider (z"l), I learned how to lead a successful team. From my predecessors Robin and Bob Zucker, I learned how important the right content is to the reader. And from Rabbi Jeff, Cantor Alison and the Board of Trustees from 2017 to present, I learned that this little magazine was important. It was WHERE our news was told; WHEN to attend events; HOW the heck are the high holy days only 90 days away(!); WHY didn't I join that committee before and WHAT it all means to love something new and different when you least expected it.

It is time to change the guard and welcome temple partner Aleta Kalkstein as Content Editor of The Buzz. Once she and I talked and met in person, I assured the Executive Committee that "she has the chops". Her experience in writing newsletters and editing not only made the transition easier for me, but for you and the other editors, my partners in crime.

Randee Epstein, our Proofing Editor, doesn't miss a trick. She magically makes the worst sentences into works of art and the best sentences better. Lisa Bennett, our Layout Editor, not surprisingly makes each issue "pop" with color, fonts, ideas and so many emails! I am confident that these three women will become a team with new aspirations as they guide you into the future of our temple. I am most proud that this publication became a real money-maker for the temple because of our advertisers. Please continue to support them. See ya in the back pew! - Li Josenhans, Editor Emerita (ha)

8 Ways to Celebrate Shabbat This Summer

Shabbat is a time of rest and reflection. A time for family and fun; a time to seek that separation from the rest of the week; that holiness that comes with seeking the connections between yourself, God, and others. Shabbat is here year-round but summer is a special season with sun and fun and school out of session. Here are a few ways to celebrate Shabbat during the lazy days of summer.

1. Bake a challah. I know, I know. It's hot outside. But usually during the summer months, schedules tend to slow down. The days are longer and there is time to bake some delicious challah. My favorite sweet challah recipe by Super Rebbitzin can be found at www.allrecipes.com. It is so good and makes a lot!
2. Listen to some Jewish music or a Jewish Podcast. There is a wealth of Jewish music and podcasts to listen to, whether you choose your favorite streaming platform or a CD, listen to the Jewish Rock Radio station online (www.jewishrockradio.com) or choose a podcast. Some of my favorites are Tablet Parsha in Progress, URJ Ten Minutes of Torah, or the irreverent OMFG podcast of Rabbis Jen Gubitz and Jodie Gordon. Find an inviting chair in your backyard or take a walk and relax.
3. Read a Jewish book. There is a wealth of good Jewish books out there, whether you read a book with Jewish themes or support a Jewish author. Some of my favorite Jewish authors are Jennifer Weiner, Dara Horn, Anita Diamant, and Alice Hoffman.
4. Come to Temple Beth El for a Summer Shabbat service. Of course, I have to include that you can come to the temple for Shabbat services! In the summer, our services are intimate, informal and lay-led. They are often held in the Great Room and you can stay for a chat and a nosh afterwards.
5. Take a nap. God created the world in six days and then rested. We should do the same! Find some comfy place to rest and refresh yourself with some well-deserved sleep.
6. Turn off your devices. Remember a time when we didn't have smartphones and we unplugged the landline during dinner? Take the plunge and turn off all your devices for 24 hours. See how different your day goes and how much more present you are with other people.
7. Invite friends and family over. Reconnect with your loved ones. Make plans for friends and family to visit and enjoy spending time together. You control the guest list!
8. Get outside. Finally, in the summer, we have those warm, long beautiful days. Do as the Kabbalists did and go outside to greet the Sabbath Bride (Shabbat). Whether it is going to the beach, a park, or your own backyard, get outside, enjoy the sunshine, take a deep breath and be thankful for this moment!

As the temple year winds down, 2023-24 is looking a lot like 2019 as we move beyond the pandemic. It feels like we're going back to the future. Our past Presidents Mitch Kittenplan and before him Linda Braun steered us through a tumultuous time and for that we are extremely grateful. As I write this, it will soon be my turn as President. It's hard to imagine what unexpected events we'll be dealing with. But if past is any prolog, here's a brief quiz to make sure you're up to date:

- During the past couple of years, what upgrades did we make?
  - Replaced the Atrium carpet
  - Replaced the Great Room flooring
  - Renovation of the temple kitchen
  - All of the above
- There was a leak in the downstairs requiring extensive mold remediation. During construction, a previously walled off closet was revealed and inside, what did we find?
  - Moldy prayer books
  - Kitchen serving platters
  - Cases of French aperitif Dubonnet
  - Religious School supplies
- Can you name the returning Executive Committee members?
  - Mike Heiberger
  - Susan Blog
  - Laurel Scheinfeld
  - Stephanie Kellerman
  - Elyse Pimsler
  - All of the above
- The temple is replacing its outdated accounting software. What is the new web-based program we're changing to?
  - TempleTech
  - ShulCloud
  - JewishAccounts
  - JewManjiWorld
- For the past 4 years, we've been doing a lot of live-streaming. Can you name the temple partners who have been instrumental in making this happen?
  - Jason Gillet
  - Jacob Gillet
  - Evan Schneider
  - Rabbi Clopper
  - Daniel Eig
  - Carol Clopper
  - All of the above
- Can you match the incoming Presidents with the correct temple Arm?
  - Sisterhood
  - Brotherhood
  - Chai Club
  - Ian Weitz
  - Jen Freed
  - Peter Wayne

I am so grateful for the opportunity to have served as President of Temple Beth El. Over the past few months when people have asked me if I was counting the days until my Presidency was over I told them, "Nope, as a matter of fact, it's quite the opposite." This has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my entire life. At the risk of making this sound like an awards show acceptance speech, I can't begin to thank enough all the amazing people who I've worked with, and the friendships that I've found...but, I'll try.

Let me start by thanking the Board of Trustees. Until you work with them, you don't get to appreciate the time and effort they put in, and how selflessly they serve our temple. Thank you one and all. I also want to thank our Past Presidents. I may not be the smartest guy in the room, but I was smart enough to accept their advice and wisdom. So to Sue Seiler, Marcia Schwalb, Florence Roffman, Mike Heiberger, Mike Widawsky and Linda Braun... thank you!

Our custodial staff. They do so much behind the scenes to make this building run. They set up rooms, clean, repair and do anything that's needed. Thank you to Jimmy, Harold and Darrell. You're the best. And special thanks to Eric Tenner, our facilities manager. He's the glue that holds the building together.

Thanks to Lisa Tricomi, our Partnership Liaison, who does a yeoman's job in dealing with 400 families and helping to make all of them feel welcomed here.

What can I say about Irma and Lisa in the office? Two sweethearts who are also amazingly hard working people. They see to it that everything runs smoothly at Temple Beth El. Special thank you for all you did for me personally. Thank you both. I love the two of you.

The Arms of our temple. You can just as easily call them the arms, the legs, and the backbone of Temple Beth El. Sisterhood, Brotherhood and Chai Club are vital to temple life. Their financial, program and volunteer support are invaluable. I thank them for everything they do. And special thanks to Beth, Ian and Peter for their leadership and hard work.

Special thanks to all the members of my Executive Committee; my friend Mark Goldman who was always there, no matter what I needed; Karen Bernstein, who is no longer on the Board (but I miss her) jumped into the role of Secretary and was a true gem. And Laurel Scheinfeld, who stepped up when Karen left, and has done an amazing job of making my job so much easier.

To my Vice Presidents, thank you all so much. Mike Heiberger, V.P. of Philanthropy, who was my Yoda. Amy Bernzweig, who was thrust into V.P. of Partnership this year and did a great job. To both Elyse Pimsler, V.P. of Education and Sue Blog, V.P. of Finance. All I can say to both of them is thank goodness cell phone plans no longer charge by the minute, or the three of us would be bankrupt. These two amazing women have dealt with and overcome so many obstacles in their positions. I'm so thankful for all their hard work and glad that they have become friends. They are absolute rocks. And, of course, Stephanie Kellerman, V.P. of Operations and Programs. What can I say about Steph? She took over the V.P. job and I can't imagine anyone who could have handled the position any better. She is an absolute rock star. There hasn't been a problem that she been unable to take care of (and, oh boy, were there problems). She's smart, devoted to TBE, really funny...and I love her.

Our new President, who was also my President Elect, Patti Kresner. Thank you, Patti, for being intelligent, an incredibly hard worker, but more importantly a wonderful person. I'm so glad to work with you and to call you my friend.

To our Clergy: Cantor Alison has always been there when I needed her, and always with a smile on her face. Thank you so much for everything. And Rabbi Jeff, who in every way is absolutely the best there is. Always smiling and unfailingly thinking two steps ahead. An unassuming voice of reason no matter what chaos has surrounded us. It's been an absolute honor to work with you. I cannot thank you enough for everything.

Finally, to all of you, our congregation. When I took over the Presidency, I said that what makes Temple Beth El so special was the people. And I believe that now more than ever. I want to thank you! I'm humbled that you gave me the opportunity to be your President. I hope that I've done you proud. Thank you so much!

Social Action News...

The Social Action Committee wants to thank all of our very generous donors that allowed us to have the largest Mother's Day collection ever!

We collaborated with Dix Hills Jewish Center and had additional participation from The Congregational Church in Huntington and Our Lady Queen of Martyrs. With the help of our faith-based community, our temple partners, and a generous donation from Estee Lauder, we were able to make 101 beautiful Mother's Day gift baskets.

85 of these baskets were donated to the Family Service League, who needed a van to pick them up! The rest of the baskets went to Haven House Bridges in Huntington and Central Islip and some to individual moms that we have been helping in the community. All of the feminine hygiene products went to VIBES, an organization that provides support to women of domestic violence.

Special thanks to TBE partners Sherri and Floyd Goldman, who donated over 100 reed diffusers, LED pillar candles and beautiful pottery with plants, making our gift baskets extra special this year.

3. F: All of the above. We're very fortunate to have these hard-working and dedicated folks returning as V.P.'s. Continuity cannot be overstated! New to the Executive Committee are Jen Gillet, VP Partnership, Mike Widawsky, VP Finance and of course Mitch Kittenplan returning as Past President. We wish all much success.
4. B: Shulcloud. Not only will Shulcloud provide updated accounting software and reporting, it is also a robust relationship management program. You'll be seeing more about this in months to come.
5. G: All of the above. It takes many hands and a fair amount of technical equipment and expertise. We're so grateful for these individuals who have kept us connected.
6. Sisterhood: Jen Freed; Brotherhood: Ian Weitz; Chai Club: Peter Wayne. Our Arms do so much to support our temple and we hope you'll support them with your involvement, attendance and donations.
